DESCRIPTION OF BUILDING PRODUCT

Paterson supplies replacement components for Schwab inwall cisterns.

Sanitary fixtures are defined in the Building Code as any fixture which is intended to be used for sanitation. Component parts for the ongoing performance of a sanitary fixture falls under this definition. BPIR covers all these components.

Schwab was established in Germany in 1911. In 2014 the company was purchased by Fluidmaster becoming a wholly owned subsidiary.

The sanitary fixtures and associated components are manufactured to all applicable European standards and declarations of performance (DoP) are supplied.

For a complete list of all replacement components covered by this BPIR refer to www.paterson.co.nz.

CONTRIBUTION TO BUILDING WORK CODE OBLIGATIONS

The Schwab components do not have building code obligations. These obligations arise when installed in a cistern.

Paterson relies on the information supplied by Schwab and their compliance with the applicable European standard to make the following claims.

When installed Schwab components may contribute to compliance with:
